

Since the enactment of the "no call list" in Indiana, the number of telemarketing calls that I recieved went from about 10 a day down to about 1 a week. I feel that there are still too many "exemptions", so I would certainly hate to see this number added to.